To Whom It May Concern:

This letter is directed to any customer and/or potential customer of Scott Davis and his company, BANR Enterprises.

Please accept this letter as my personal confirmation that BANR Enterprises represents and provides a rare and high-level professionalism; a quality one must require from the construction trade, yet so often non-existent.

Scott, his crew and his subcontractor relationships fulfilled their promise of work to the fullest extent possible and, in addition, provided multiple suggestions and beneficial work idea-improvements that allowed for the original vision of the project to be enhanced. Such was given to me with no intention or motivation to increase the cost of the project but, clearly, simply to perform a better job and exceed my expectations – a character trait of Scott Davis for which it became quickly apparent exists. The result was a vastly improved home-site and subsequent valuation to the home. The alteration is so dramatic and well done – several neighbors have sought input and requested Scott's contact information.

Attention-to-detail is an attitude many times presented and sold, but not always fulfilled during contract performance, completion or follow-up phases. Such is not the case with Scott Davis and BANR Enterprises! Scott has become one of my family's "go-to" guys for contractor needs. To confirm such, he has worked or is working for three different families on my neighborhood block!

Sincerely and forever appreciative to Scott Davis and BANR Enterprises,

Kenneth R. Golsan
